

I am a former NJ resident (close to 30 years). My concern is for all states as well as NJ. When recorded telemarketers messages are answered they often do not hang up after the callee disconnects. This could be dangerous if there is an emergency. I have no sympathy for telemarketers who do not make in person calls. And even those are very, very annoying. Yes I know that we can just hang up, but why do we need to be solicited in the privacy of our homes? thanks LRS
